SARRIA HANNAM ASSOCIATES

Colombian-born Francisco Sarria (below right) met Londoner Nick Hannam (far right) when they were both designing for a joinery, creating furniture ranges for shows in Paris and London. The duo formed Sarria Hannam Associates in 2005, offering a creative interiors service for domestic and commercial clients, and their own furniture and lighting designs. They use their backgrounds in the antique and furniture business to create bespoke interiors with a strong sense of sculptural form. Recent projects include interiors for a 50m luxury yacht and a 16th-century manor house, and this month they will begin producing table, lighting, seating and storage ranges for Alma Leather. 020 8693 3847 and 07753 614875 www.sarriahannam.com

ANTONIA LAZENBY

Antonia Lazenby set up her own interior design company in early 2005 after seven years at Thorp Design. A residential design specialist who describes her style as a mix of contemporary luxury and individuality, Lazenby offers a slightly different service to most: she shares her office with architect Igor Falkovsky of Studio DAR, and together they offer an integrated architecture and interior design service. 'We start working on projects together from day one, combining both disciplines from the start to enable each element to be considered alongside the next for the most harmonious result,' she says. www.antonialazenby.co.uk 07714 714988 Studio DAR 020 7384 5590 www.studiodar.co.uk

ANNABELLA NASSETTI

There's a warmth about Annabella Nasseti's interior design – coupled with what she describes as 'an intuitive understanding of how people live' – that marks out her work. With a degree in industrial design from university in her native Milan, Nasseti trained in interior design at the Inchbald after arriving in London in 1997. Selected for an internship at international hotel designer Hirsch Bedner & Associates, Nasseti collaborated on several European hotels before designing and refurbishing property for clients in central London. She set up her own company two years ago, and says she now enjoys creating interiors with a maximum sense of space, often using bespoke built-in features to enhance comfort and contemporary looks. 020 7043 6925 www.abnassetti.com
